

Swedish customer places new order, worth SEK 6.5 million, on Advenica's products and services

Advenica, the Swedish supplier of cyber security solutions, has received a new order from a Swedish authority. The deal is worth MSEK 6.5 and the delivery will start immediately.

Advenica is a well-established and trusted supplier of cyber security solutions both in Sweden and internationally. A Swedish authority has now placed a new order for products and services that allow tailor-made solutions for the customer's specific needs. Delivery of the order will start immediately and will be finalized during 2020.

The nature of the industry and the circumstances regarding the delivery and the customer means that further information about the end customer will not be published.

We work with customers whose operations require solutions to protect the most valuable information. Advenica's products have once again proven to maintain the quality that customers with high integrity seek. With flexible and future-proof technology, user-friendliness and exceptional reliability, we meet the customer's requirements for specific solutions.
