

Order worth MSEK 10 from Swedish authorities for product development of Advenica Cross Domain Solutions

Advenica, the Swedish provider of cybersecurity solutions, has received an order from Swedish authorities for product development related to Cross Domain Solution. An agreement worth approximately MSEK 10 with delivery during 2020.

Advenica is a long-established and well trusted provider of cybersecurity solutions for defense customers, both in Sweden and internationally. Cross Domain Solutions includes network device for filtering and whitelisting of information flows, and data diodes for unidirectional data flow. Advenicas' futureproof products have several national approvals on the highest level.

The order will be delivered during 2020.

Network segmentation and securing information flows plays a critical role in today's politically volatile world. More and more countries develop offensive cyberwar capabilities and criminal organizations increase their capacity every day. Securing secret information gets harder every day. The order shows that Advenicas' competence and knowledge within Cross Domain Solutions is state of the art."
