

Advenica receives order for Cross Domain Solutions worth MSEK 1.7 from the Swedish authorities

Advenica, the Swedish provider of cybersecurity solutions, has received an order from a Swedish authority regarding Cross Domain Solution products. The order is worth MSEK 1.7 and will be delivered immediately.

Advenica is a well-established and trusted supplier of cybersecurity solutions to the armed forces and authorities, both in Sweden and internationally. Cross Domain Solutions includes network devices for filtering and whitelisting information flows as well as data diodes for unidirectional data flow. Advenica's future-proof products have several national approvals at the highest level.

The customer is a Swedish authority that has previously ordered product development within the same product area. Delivery will take place immediately.

Network segmentation and secure information flows are important to be able to protect critical information. When threats increase, it is important to protect the most valuable information in order to limit the damage in the event of an attack. We are pleased with the continued collaboration with this customer - a collaboration that has now resulted in a first series delivery.
