

Advenica receives orders for crypto products worth 30 MSEK from Swedish authorities

Advenica, the Swedish provider of cybersecurity solutions, has received a new order from a Swedish authority. The deal is worth 30 MSEK and deliveries will take place during the second half of 2021.

Advenica works with customers whose business requires high-assurance solutions to protect the most valuable information. Advenica's products have future-proof technology, user-friendliness, exceptional reliability and high assurance; technology that simply ensures the security of the country.

A new order regarding crypto products has now been received from a Swedish authority. The delivery of the order will take place during the second half of 2021.

We are extremely pleased with the continued trust and long-term cooperation with this customer. Advenica's crypto products are for the most demanding customers as the products are certified for use up to the highest level of signal protection (TOP SECRET) and are approved to protect information that is placed in the highest information classification level in Sweden, Kvalificerat Hemlig. With the help of our products, customers can increase information security and thus contribute to a safer world.
