

Advenica wins order worth 1,2 MSEK from a Swedish authority

Advenica has won an order from a Swedish authority concerning its Data Guards offering. The order worth 1,2 MSEK is on Advenica's ZoneGuard and associated services.

Controlled information exchange between different domains is of great importance for customers handling sensitive data. Advenica's ZoneGuard is a gateway that ensures that information exchange is made according to the organisation's policies. Common use cases are various filters and validation of network protocols.

Advenica has received an order from a Swedish authority concerning ZoneGuard and associated services worth 1,2 MSEK. The order will be delivered immediately.

We are grateful for the trust shown by Swedish authorities. It acknowledges our ability to combine high security with a customer experience that truly makes a difference.
