

Advenica wins order worth 1,2 MSEK from Swedish authority customer

Advenica has won an order on data diodes and a customised solution from a Swedish authority. The order is worth 1,2 MSEK.

Data diodes are essential for ensuring one-way data transfer between the most critical systems. Advenica's hardware-based data diodes meet the demands of customers with the highest security requirements. Advenica has now received an order on data diodes and a customisation of the proxy software Data Diode Engine.

Delivery begins immediately and continues during Q1 2026.

Choosing Advenica reflects strong trust not only in our technology, but also in how customer-focused and flexible we are in customising our software.
