

Advenica receives order worth 27 MSEK from a Swedish authority

Advenica has received an order from a Swedish authority within the total defence regarding continued development of an existing encryption product. The contract covers a period of three years and is worth 27 MSEK.

Advenica has long experience from working with customers handling society's most sensitive information and thus having significant demands on their encryption solutions.

A long-term order has now been received from a Swedish authority within the total defence regarding continued development of an encryption product. Project delivery is part of Advenica's Designhouse business and will be made continuously until Q4 2028.

Delivering solutions to the total defence that helps protect society's most important information is something we take extremely seriously, and we put a lot of pride in being trusted by the Swedish authorities.
