Advenica wins order worth 2.9 million SEK from Swedish authority

Advenica has won an order in the Encryption System product area from a Swedish authority. The order value is SEK 2.9 million and concerns delivery of a SecuriVPN system.

Advenica is a well-established and trusted supplier of encryption systems for information at the highest classification level. SecuriVPN is a hardware-based quantum-secured network encryptor that provides the means for truly private communication within a geographically scattered organisation. The system prevents state-funded attackers from reading or changing the data. With quantum-secure algorithms, SecuriVPN excels in protecting data with extended lifetime while safeguarding against interception, replay attacks and manipulation of the information.

The order, which will be delivered immediately, comprises a complete SecuriVPN system and includes a 1-year Maintenance and Support Agreement.

To protect our customers data is to protect our society – that's the level of responsibility we bring to every solution. This deal is yet another testament to government agencies repeatedly choosing Advenica.
