Lagercrantz subsidiary Load Indicator AB acquires durability measurement operations from Dynamo Free AB

Lagercrantz Group's subsidiary Load Indicator AB has today signed an agreement to acquire the assets and liabilities of Dynamo Free AB.

The business is a leader within durability measurement in the field using specially-adapted force sensors. Annual revenue amounts to approximately MSEK 2.5.

"We are happy about the opportunity to strengthen our resources and expertise within field measurement, which represents an exciting development area for us that complements our existing suite of solutions from our own laboratory and mechanical workshop. We look forward to working together with Dynamo Free's owners and personnel who will move into roles within Load Indicator," comments Rickard Wilhelmsson, MD of Load Indicator AB.

Load Indicator AB is a leading supplier of solutions with strain gauges and load cells for enhanced process and quality control and will form part of Lagercrantz Group's Communications division. The acquisition is expected to only generate a marginal addition to the Group's earnings per share.
