

Sandbäckens, part of Nimlas Group, continues to invest in electricity – acquires BK Styr och Elteknik

Sandbäckens, part of the Nimlas Group, acquires BK Styr och Elteknik AB and thereby strengthens its position within electrical installations in the Stockholm region. The acquisition is part of Sandbäckens' long-term strategy, 5-50-500, which involves reaching 5 billion in turnover, 50 new companies and 500 million in profit. The electricity sector is an important part of this growth, and the goal is to generate 1 billion in electricity sales in the coming years.

- Good news that we continue to grow within control and automation. The acquisition is the group's first this year - completely in line with our growth - and I welcome BK Styr och Elteknik to Sandbäckens, says Lars Larsen, Regional Manager Electrical, Sandbäckens.

BK Styr och Elteknik was started by the Karlsson brothers, Kent and Ove, in 2001, and has grown gradually, today the company employs 25 people. The company specializes in control installation electricity systems and building electricity automation. Service assignments, renovations, new construction and contracting projects are carried out for customers who are found in industry and commercial/public property owners. BK Styr och Elteknik has a turnover of approximately 30 MSEK (2024).

- “Becoming part of Sandbäckens feels right for us as we want to develop our business further”, says Ove Karlsson, Project Manager and founder, BK Styr och Elteknik.

Kent Karlsson, incoming MD and founder:

- “I look forward to belonging to a growing installation group, and opportunities for both collaborations and synergies with other companies within Sandbäckens”.

Access to BK Styr och Elteknik will take place in May.
