

Digia to provide YIT Equipment with Microsoft Dynamics AX services

Digia and YIT have signed a four-year service agreement covering the provision of Microsoft Dynamics AX development, maintenance and consulting services to YIT Equipment. The agreement supports Digia's strategy to be a comprehensive service partner by offering YIT the opportunity to focus on developing its core business. Digia will take over the operative administration of the system that manages YIT Equipment's business processes.

"We were not pleased with our previous model, where invoicing was based on the number of hours worked rather than on a fixed-rate charge that covers very little actual service. We started to look for a new solution, and liked Digia's new approach, which is based on a fixed-rate service charge, and under which we shoulder responsibility for business process functionality together. One key aspect of the proposal was linking pricing to business process functionality and thereby creating a shared incentive," says YIT's Panu Vehniäinen, Director, IT services and development.

"Modernising traditional services, and thereby giving service providers greater responsibility for their customers' business, will be one of the leading concepts in the business and service development of the future. Customers will receive a more predictable, more agile and duplicatable package that will create a foundation for competitive, healthy and efficient service," says Digia's Juho Seppälä, Director, Microsoft Dynamics.
