Statement on Accident SK 686 Routed Milan - Copenhagen

Scandinavian Airlines regrets to confirm that its flight number SK 686 with 104 passengers and 6 crew en route from Milan/Linate Italy to Copenhagen, Denmark was involved in an accident at 08:15 hrs local time today.

A second press conference will be held at SAS headquarters in Frösundavik (Stockholm) at 18:00 hours today.

Casualties have occurred but the number has not yet been confirmed. We will provide further information as it becomes available. SAS is doing everything possible to help passengers and next-of-kin and to assist Italian authorities at this difficult time. A team of specially-trained SAS personnel from Oslo, Stockholm and Copenhagen are now en route to Milan to provide assistance at the scene of the accident.

The aircraft, a MD87 was delivered to SAS on September 21, 1991 and has flown 25,573 hrs in 16,562 flights. The aircraft is equipped with 2 engines. The latest major check B6:1 was performed on September 3, 2001.

The names of the passengers and crew will be released when all next-of-kin have been notified. A special hot-line number has been established for families and relatives.

The hot-line numbers in each country are:

- In Sweden: +46 8 797 10 10 0200 727 272 (within Sweden)
- Denmark: +45 3232 6001 8024 0101 (within Denmark)
- Norway: +47 6758 5010 800 80610 (within Norway)
- Finland: +358 800 90200
- UK: +44 (0) 845 604 0173

SAS will provide further information as soon as it becomes available, see www.scandinavian.net

SAS CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS

Note to editors: We ask journalists not to call the passenger hot-line, as a separate media center has been established. The media information center can be contacted at the following numbers: +46-8-797 20 81, 797 28 33